LABOR TO FIGHT RAIL WAGE CUT

Unions Will Argue That More Capital Should be Put Into Roads

SAYS ROADS "MILKED"

Labor People Will Go On Stand Within Next Week or Ten Days—Want Laws Erased

Washington, May 31.—Spokesmen for organized labor let it be known yesterday that they plan to go before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, which is investigating the railroads with arguments against wage reductions, and in favor of having the owners put additional capital into the systems. The arguments will be similar to those advanced in Chicago against wage reductions.

The labor representatives will not contend that the men who actually have operated the railroads have not done a good job. On the contrary, they will admit that the railroad managers did excellently well considering their "handicaps," before and after Government operation. But they will contend that the owners of the roads, by which they mean great banking houses such as J. P. Morgan & Co., "milked" the railroad system for years, deprived them of improvements and should now be called upon to put in capital that would make the roads fully efficient, and thus able to operate successfully without reduction of wages.

The alleged "milking" process, according to labor spokesmen, took so much money from the roads that ought to have been used for betterments and improvements that the systems under private management failed to function up to needs in 1917, when war struck the country. The big banking interests, the labor leaders will tell the committee, should have put additional capital into the system when they were turned back, to have enabled the managers of the roads to start putting in adequate equipment, and recover the ground lost during the period when the owners are charged with having improperly diverted funds from betterments.

Having failed to put the new capital needed into the system when they were turned back, they should be called upon to do so now, the labor representatives say. Certain roads could save enough in the operation of modern locomotives, it is claimed, to pay for them in two years. That is given as an example. By following this policy, the labor people argue, it would not be necessary to reduce the wages of railroad labor which is called efficient and entitled to ample compensation.

The labor representatives take little stock in the theory that the owners of the roads could not produce the additional capital needed if they wanted to do so. Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, while saying that many of the improvements suggested at Chicago were distinctly worth while, held that equipment of all the roads with modern locomotives would cost $4,000,000,000 alone, and asked where the money could be got.

It is expected the labor people will not go on the stand for a week or 10 days. Edward Chambers, vice-president of the Atchison, Topeka and Sante Fe, will resume his testimony when the committee meets this morning. Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania, and other systems, will follow, and several days will be occupied by their testimony. It is thought that it will be mainly in the nature of reaffirmation of the testimony previously given for the railroads.

The testimony given by the railroad officials since the investigation got under way shows plainly that what they are hoping and working for is to be let alone as to laws and rates while the Railroad Labor Board is working out and putting into effect the wage cuts which it has said would come. In a word, the position of the roads is that they are entitled, because of their financial plight and in simple justice, to a continuation of

FOREIGNERS ARE FLEECED BY "AGENT"

Decamps With $112 From Fourteen Men Whom He Employed

MEN GAVE $8 EACH

Slick "Agent" Said Money Was For Board—Leaves Men Stranded at Hotel.

Fourteen foreigners are today minus a total of $112 and a reputed labor agent is the gainer thereby and the foreigners yesterday moved back to Washington after being quartered at the Monticello Hotel for twenty four hours. Incidentally it might be well to add that the hotel is also out about $76 as a result of the transaction.

The foreigners, it was learned, were told by the man that they were wanted for three months' work digging holes for telephone poles and were brought with their effects by the man to this city. They were carried to the hotel Saturday night and the bunch numbered exactly seventeen, including Greeks, Syrians, Italians and other nationalities together with one Turk. The agent after arranging for board and lodging for the men collected $8 each from fourteen of the seventeen men and then according to reports made to the police then left the place. Sunday morning he had vanished. The police took charge of the men the question was thrashed out in the police court yesterday and the men were held till late in the afternoon and released. They left for Washington sadder but wiser men. Many of the men stated that it would not be well for the agent should they meet him face to face.

Mishaps Prevent Game

Ball Fans Are Disappointed Over Failure of Visiting Team to Arrive on Time

The big holiday game scheduled for yesterday between the Dreadnaughts and the Newton Woodward A. C. of Richmond was not played owing to visiting team making trip in machines and encountering a number of accidents enroute. They left Richmond 8.30 a. m., however, and the following to a local reporter was made by manager of team:

"It is regretted we were unable to arrive in time to play the Dreadnaughts the game we had booked today, but unavoidable accidents was the cause and we did not arrive here until 5.30 P. M. It is hoped another game can be arranged between the two clubs at some early date. My club assumes sole responsibility for disappointing Alexandria baseball fans and assures them the courtesies extended us in our tardy visit, by the Dreadnaughts, are satisfactory in every particular."

SOFT LIGHTS IN THE HOME URGED AS MEANS OF REDUCING DIVORCES

Chicago, May 31.—The day of the old maid has ended. Leap year is going to be an every day night event after this. Cobwebs over the doors of the divorce courts. All husbands in love with their wives.

This was the romantic rainbow promised yesterday by Dr. M. Luckiesh, noted authority on scientific lighting and coloring, director of applied science at the Nela Research Laboratory in Cleveland, who is in Chicago to attend the forty-fourth convention of the National Electric Light Association, which meets tomorrow.

"The lights and colors used in the ordinary American home are criminal. No wonder there are so many nagging wives, whimpering children and callous husbands. I venture to predict that when housewives have their homes illuminated with satisfying light, instead of the usual irritating glare, that divorces will be reduced materially."

20,000 N. AND W. EMPLOYES PREPARE TO STRIKE IF WAGES ARE CUT

Roanoke, Va., May 31.—Approximately 20,000 Norfolk and Western employes will strike in case the road attempts to reduce wages or abrogate agreements with the men, it was learned here today, after unfruitful conferences between representatives of the federated shop crafts and rail road officials relative to the framing of a new agreeement.

It was said that 8,000 employes in the motive power department of the road voted to refuse any wage reduction at this time and to lay down their tools, rather than take a wage cut or suffer the abrogation of agreements between employes and the road. Mass meetings are being held at all points on the road and the membership of the 16 organizations are preparing to act with the shopmen.

3 Busts of Washington, Gift of U. S. to England

Washington, May 31.—Installation in the "British shrines of our common patriotism" of the three busts of George Washington, presented to the British government by the American people, attests the common devotion of both nations to the "ideals of liberty, humanity and enlightenment" President Harding declared in a message to be read yesterday at the simultaneous unveiling of the busts in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, the Town Hall at Liverpool, and at Sulgrave Manor, the Washington ancestral home.

The message expressed hope that the gift of the busts may "inspire a continued reciprocation of the established friendship of the American people for the British nation."

JACK DEMPSEY WORKS PRIOR TO LONG REST

Atlantic City, N. J., May 31.—With a four days' rest awaiting him, Jack Dempsey took his last workout today until aSturday, sleeping six furious rounds with a trio of sparring partners.

The workout was witnessed by the largest crowd that has jammed the champion's open air arena since he started training two weeks ago. There were several hundred women spectators and they gave Dempsey a round of applause after he finished.

Larry Wiliams, the 180 pounder, who was all but knocked out yesterday, received another battering yesterday afternoon. Dempsey punished him unmercifully around the body with wicked left hooks, occasionally straightening him up with solid smashes to the head. Wiliams is proving the best sparring partner for the champion.

HARDING SAYS U. S. TO CAUSE FREEDOM

Declares Country Will Meet Every Demand of Civilization

SPEAKS AT ARLINGTON

Ambassador Geddes Presents Wreath In Behalf of British Empire—Gen. Miles Leads Parade.

Washington, May 31.—The national capital's memorial ceremonies for American war dead were colored by a new touch of international significance yesterday at services held in Arlington Cemetery under the lead of President Harding.

Speaking in the Arlington amphitheatre to veterans of three wars and to a distinguished company of officials and diplomatists, the President rededicated the nation to the cause of freedom and civilization, and promised that it never would fail to measure up to every demand presented to it in behalf of civilization. By striking across the sea in the World War, he declared, America had sanctified again her faith in free institutions for peoples everywhere.

"Wherever men are free," said the President, "they are wont to give thought to our country's services in freedom's course. Today the sons and daughters of others lands are placing with loving hands their laurels on American graves. Our Memorial Day is become an international occasion."

To do our full part in helping stabilize the world, to restrain ambition for empires still rife and to prevent the disaster to civilization that would flow from a denial of the equality of sovereign states or persons—to aid in accomplishing these purpose, the President said, is a heritage of responsibility from the sacrifices of those who gave their lives for the nation that we cannot evade, if we would.

"The world is looking to us for leadership and it will not look in vain, for mankind is fallen on times when there is no hope for it if some communities seek isolation while others indulge unrestrained ambition for empires," Mr. Harding said.

While rejecting the doctrine of isolation of the extreme "irreconcilables," the President would shun the other extreme which would have landed the United States in the League of Nations.

"I am not counseling surrendered independence," he said. "Our maintained freedom is the source of our might. Only the American conscience may command this republic."

The President made it clear that he would have the United States participate in the peace undertaking of world stabilization as it participated in the undertaking of war—without any hard and fast alliance, but in untrammeled association with the other great powers.

To accomplish this mission effectively we must attend to the needs of America first and make ourselves strong, firm, secure.

"I counsel no selfishness, no little Americanism, no mere parochialism," said the President, "when I urge that our first duty is to our own, and that in the measure of its performance we will find the true gauge of our capacity to be helpful to others."

At the conclusion of the address Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador, seconded the sentiment by placing on the American flag beside the President a wreath of roses presented by the people of the United Kingdom and hr dominions "in undimmed memory of the sacrifices that Americah as made for individual liberty."

In special references to the World War, President Harding declared America had opened the door to free institutions even in the countries against which she fought, and had given opportunity "of planting democracies where absolutism had held sway, for making the people supreme."

He added that the troubled state of conditions abroad still made it doubtful whether the vanquished peo-

Superious Americanism. Just the other night twelve self-appointed keepers of the public welfare motored to the home of Bouck White in Marlboro, New York, dragged Mr. White from his bed at midnight and administered to him a sound flogging and a coat of tar and feathers. This was all done, so it was said, in the name of law and order and because of White's abuse of his wife.

It seems somewhat strange that with thousands of men throughout the country, some doubtless in Marlboro, New York, who abuse their wives, that this one man should be selected to be made an example of and that he should happen to be one of the so-called "radical" leaders of the country. It may be that he was a wife-beater and that he deserved the hand of the law but a great many people will continue to nourish the suspicion that Mr. White's summary and un-American punishment sprang from other motives than concern for his wife.

We hold no brief for the "radicals" or "reds" or whatever name you choose to give them, but we call attention to the fact that these lawless midnight visitations are setting a dangerous precedent for all classes of people who wish to take the law into their own hands. What the country needs is more regard for the courts and the constitution as instuments of public safety and less respect for the whip and the tar-pot. Otherwise we shall come to chaos.

Safety First. Such tragedies of the air as the one which Saturday killed two civilians and five Army officers revive interest in the much-mooted question as to how safe flying now is and how safe it may ultimately become.

There are those who say that within ten or fifteen years aerial transportation will be as general and common as travel by rail, steamer or motor-car. There are others who just as emphatically insist that travel in the air will always be restricted to a comparatively small percentage of people.

Certainly aviation must be made much safer than it now is before there will be any rush on an air-route ticket office.

Woodrow Wilson. While we are [illegible] remember in a today, let there be a thought for the man who is ineffably linked with our sacrifices in the war. It has been said, and history will often repeat it, that no American soldier gave his life for the cause with greater devotion than Woodrow Wilson spent every ounce of his manhood, health and happiness for it.

Wilson's place in history is fixed far beyond the power of his petty detractors to mar it. His place in the minds and hearts of generations to come is large and sure. Let us not deny him while he is yet with us the measure of love and good will his great services have so justly merited.

VETERAN DIES AT AGE OF 87

(Communicated)

After an heroic struggle against the infirmities of age, having been more or less bedridden for the past four years, Colonel Lawrence S. Mayre, Confederate veteran and well known here and throughout the State as a newspaper writer and essayist, ended his long and varied career at 9 o'clock last evening, in the eighty-eighth year of his age.

Colonel Marye had been a well-known figure in this community for the past 20 years and during a large portion of that time was editorial writer on The Progress, whose columns he enlivened with his native wit and ability and embellished with his polished and attractive literary form. Being thoroughly posted on the current affairs of the day and an ardent supporter of the principle of the Democratic party, he was peculiarly fitted for the editorial chair and his contributions were widely read and copied and exerted a great influence among the people of the period.

Having lived considerably beyond the four score period of years, Colonel Marye had literally lived in two epochs in the history of his State and had been a power in public affairs prior to his coming hither.

Colonel Marye was of the noted and talented family that has played so conspicuous a part in every period of Virginia history, and first saw the light at his ancestal rhome, "Brompton," in Spotsylvania County, known to immortal fame as Marye's Heights where the matchless Lee and Jackson, with their southern paladins, threw back the onrushing hordes, led by Burnside in the winter of 1862.

Lawrence S. Marye was born in 1834, one of a family of eleven children, eight sons and three daughters, all of whom have preceded him to the grave. Among those who rose to State prominence was the late Col. Morton S. Marye, for a long time Auditor of Virginia and a power in political affairs of the Commonwealth for a generation. The descendants of this noted family are numerous and scattered far and wide throughout this State and other parts of the South.

Colonel Marye married Miss Marie Wilson, of Cumberland County, who predeceased him in this city some 10 or more years ago. There were no children from their union.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, Mr. Marye immediately offered his services to his native State and was elected captain of a company of Light Artillery (The Hampden Artillery) and was, during the first year of the war, in Fayette and Kanawha counties (now West Virginia), his company being attached to the command of Major General Loring. His company was not engaged in any serious battle during the campaign, though there was a slight affair, amountin to but little more than a skirmish, at Fayette Courthouse.

In the second year of the war, Mr. Marye was appointed captain in the Ordnance Department, and assigned first to the division of General Jubal A. Early and afterwards to the division of General Edward Johnson, and was in most of the battles fought between the Army of Northern Virginia and the Federal armies during the war.

The funeral will be held from the Presbyterian Church at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the service to be conducted by the pastor, Dr. G. L. Petrie. The interment will be in Maplewood Cemetery. —Charlottesville Progress, April 21, 1921.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Lexington—Following a five-hour search by several hundred fellow students, the body of Rutherford Roland Hall, of Moorefield, W. Va., a senior at Washington and Lee University, who was drowned while swimming in North River Sunday afternoon, was recovered late Monday night. He was to have graduated two weeks hence. The victim was the son of the Rev. Samuel O. Hall, a Presbyterian minister.

Gordonsville—Another attempt was made Sunday night to wreck the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway fast train No. 9, running from Hot Springs to New York, at practically the same place, near here, that three previous attempts were made, but again the train was saved due to its speed. The heavy locomotive ripped right through the railroad ties that had been placed on the track, and the train continued its trip. Bloodhounds were put on the trail yesterday, but no arrest has as yet been made.

Danville—N. G. Terry, formerly chief of police of South Boston, and who last Monday was relieved of duty following a sensational attack on R. L. Mays with a weapon, which was followed by his indictment on the charge of felonious assault in the Halifax Circuit Court, was Sunday removed under guard to Staunton Asylum.

Richmond—Less than $3,000,000 of federal aid money remain in the treasury of the commonwealth of Virginia to the credit of the state road fund, according to a detailed statement by the Virginia Good Road Association. Contracts which will be let during the summer months will reduce this balance to less than $200,000, the statement indicates.

Richmond—An association to perpetuate "Monticello" in the same manner in which Mount Vernon is conducted has been chartered by the state corporation commission. The Thomas Jefferson National Memorial Association was incorporated and authorized to purchase the state known as "Monticello," in Albemarle county and preserve it as a national memorial to Thomas Jefferson.

Mr. B. L. Coe, who resides near Dunavant, Spotsylvania county, reported that a severe trembling and shaking of the earth was felt in the north end of the county at 9:30 o'clock Friday night, which seemed like a nearthquake. His residence was rocked to its foundation and dishes and pans were rattled. The tremble caused the sides of his well to cave in for a depth of 10 feet.

There appears to be more than a possibility that Congress may reverse itself and take action making Camp Lee, Virginia, the training camp for the Third Army Zone, instead of Camp Meade, Md.

LUMBER
BUILDING MATERIALS
W. A. SMOOT & CO., Inc.
ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA
EVERY THING FOR BUILDING—BUT THE HARDWARE

A DAILY THOUGHT

"Working Conditions" is a well worn expression in the world of labor arbitration. But real working conditions are just what we make them.

The man who tackles his job each morning, as a live, interesting problem to be solved, who goes at it with energy and confidence, who refuses to be worried or heckled or upset, is the man who is creating pleasant and profitable working conditions for himself.

The effect upon an organization of the mental attitude of the individual worker is too little emphasized. The man who radiates good will, energy and enthusiasm is a veritable dynamo of success. He creates mental working conditions that are bound to be reflected in increased earnings for both his company and himself.

TWO ALLEGED SHOT BY FARMER GUEST

Charlottesvile, Va., May 30.—Becoming angered, it is alleged, at a threat made by McCue Quick, with whmo he was dining, Joseph C. Harris, a farmer, living near Fabers, Nelson county, whipped out a revolver and, it is charged, attempted to clean up the family. Quick was shot through the back, and a bullet, said to have been intended for his wife, penetrated the right thigh of one of the children, Russell, 6 years old. Both were rushed to the University Hospital for treatment. Quick's condition is considered critical.

During the shooting, which occurred near the Albemarle line, Quick's wife made her escape with a younger child. Harris is one of three brothers, all substantial farmers of Nelson. One of the brothers reached the hospital last night and left instructions that everything possible be done to save Quicks life.

HARDING SAS U. S. TO CAUSE FREEDOM

ples would accept that opportunity and would pay the price required to maintain the freedom to which the door has been opened."

The exercises at Arlington, with their background of thousands of flag draped graves, formed the center of the capital's Memorial Day Ceremonies, though various smaller gatherings were held in other parts of the city. During the day a parade of veterans, headed by Lieut.Gen. Nelson A. Miles, was reviewed by the President and Mrs. Harding from the steps of the executive offices, and many thousands journeyed to Arlington and other cemeteries to pay their tribute to the dead.

One unusual feature was a gathering of survivors of the Naval Academy class of 1881 to decorate the graves of their dead classmates. Admiral Baron Sotokichi Urin, of the Japanese Navy, the only living Japanese graduate of the academy, was among those who attended, having come to this country particularly for the occasion and for a class reunion to be held today at Annapolis. Other members of the class include Secretary of War Weeks; Senator Weller, of Maryland; Admiral H. B. Wilson, and Maj.-Gen. George Barnett, of the Marine Corps.

Unique plan of the Salvation Army to interest girls and keep them off the streets.

The Girl Guards are but little known. With the above motto for their guiding principle, their activities are all designed to intrigue their interest and to cultivate in them standards of right thinking and clean living that will make them, not only good citizens, but influential factors in their home and school life.

Baltimore has one band of Girl Guards organized by Captain Prendeville of the South Anne Street Nursery of the Salvation Army.

Captain Prendeville devoted much time and energy to this group of girls which she has gotten together in her community. They range in ages from 10 to 21, and are persuaded to come together through the attractive feature of this organization which is patterned after the Girl Scouts.

All kinds of sewing and mending, and also simple embroidery is taught as part of the indoor work. Drills, marches, delightful hikes and camping privileges in the summer make the outdoor work alluring.

Captain Prendeville also gives much attention to musical development. Not only are the girls encouraged to sing, but also to do orchestral work. Instruments and musician are provided free and the regular practice encouraged. It is surprising, the amount of progress those girls make with their instruments and how short a time is required for them to be able to play well enough to join in the marches with the real Salvation Army Band.

Captain Prendeville has fostered in every possible way the domestic traits of the girls.

She procured from her meager resources, material for bungalow aprons, cut and fitted them for each girl and then instructed and assisted them in the making of them.

Each girl in the group of twenty-three was eager to have an apron but clumsy, untrained fingers made the task irksome more than once. But—to own and take home the garment, the girl had to complete it herself, and when after many weary weeks the last stitch was in it was a proud little girl that carried home the first one to be finished.

By every constructive means that is feasible, these splendid Salvation Army workers, strive to hold the interest of the girls whom they get enrolled as Guards. The indoor activities and the outdoor sports are designed to keep them from bad associates and out of unwholesome places. They provide at infinite pains opportunities for athletics and vocational instruction and culture such as is not possible to them through their families.

While it is a big undertaking to fill in the time to gather together a band of twenty-five or thirty untrained, undisciplined girls of various nationalities and organize them into a working team for athletic music and religion, it is a mighty stride toward guaranteeing the quality of our future citizens for today's girls are tomorrow's mothers—and while the Salvationists work on untiringly seeking no visible reward—they rest on their belief that some day, some where, some how, these early teachings of cleanliness, and the principles expressed by their motto will bear results.

Baltimore's Staff of Girl Guards, knows first aid—have an orchestra of their own—and are expert in many useful lines.

From these sources also are obtained some of the finest material for officers in the Army; growing up under its training they are well versed in its principles and when they become consecrated go in for the training, they make splendid leaders.

FIREMEN STICK UNTIL LAST PASTE FACTORY FLAME DIES

Chicago, May 31.—The brave firemen stuck to their jobs until the last Some of them stuck longer and tight er than others. But all of them stuck.

The fire was in the basement of the United States Paste Company's building on the west side. Most of the adhesive was in open bins in a basement, a powdery, starchy substance that gave no hint of possibilities when the fire fighters arrived to extinguish the blaze that had started in a rubbish pile. Fireman William Murphy gave a thrilling account of the troubles encountered.

"A peculiar set of circumstances saved the plant," Murphy said. "The flames became stuck in a vat of liberated glue, holding the fire in one place, so that it was unable to spread When we turned our streams on those paste bins, the whole place was running with paste. We didn't know what it was until our feet began to get heavy and then we thought we were just tired. But when we got stuck fast to the floor, we knew there was something wrong. Our escape from death was miraculous, the fire finally cneating so much stream that the paste was loosened and we were freed.

"The glue that fell on the flames stiffened them. I hear that a lot of scientists are coming over tomorrow to see the stiffened flames."

ROYAL JAPANESE JOKE ON BRITAIN RUMORED

London, May 31.—Who is the bespectacled young man from Japan whose visit this country has aroused so much interest and is being honored as Crown Prince Hirohito? According to the Church Times:

"Among those in England who know Japan there is a growing feeling that the present visitor is not the actual Crown Prince at all. They see nothing improbable in the rumor that the Japanese Government sent someone else to impersonate the Crown Prince since the opposition to his visit came very much from the military and the beaurocratic set, the Emperor practically being an imbecile."

The Japanese Embassy today officially denied the report printed in the Church Times that the Japanese Crown Prince, who left for Paris this morning, is not the Crown Prince at all but someone sent over to impersonate him.

PERSHING DECKS PARENTS' GRAVES

Chicago, May 31.—From the vestible of a Baltimore man and Ohio train stepped a tall man in a dark blue traveling suit. A touch of gray showed at his temples under a conservative straw sailor hat. There was something unmistakable in his erect carriage and measured tread as he crossed the platform to where two men awaited him.

"Are the flowers here?" he asked, They took him to a waiting automobile and indicated two great boxes of roses. The three men started immediately in the automobile for Oakwood cemetery.

The car rolled through streets thronged with thousands of veterans, preparing to do homage to the nation's heroic dead. Not once was the tall, erect man recognized.

He was Gen. John J. Pershing, He had come to Chicago to bow his head at the graves of his father and mother. All the honor and homage that might have been his—he had bene asked to review the great parade here today—he relinquished.

So, with his brother and his nephew, they laid the roses on the graves of his father and his mother and for a few minutes the erect figure was bowed.

An hour later, General Pershing had left town over another route for Princeton, Ill., where he visited the graves of other relatives.

The boy was rescued by his father and neighbors and hurried to the Chester Hospital, where he lived but an hour after his admission to the institution.

Frank was a great favorite among playmates and neighbors near his home, Market street, Linwood, and his tragic death cast a pall over the village.

CHILDREN'S HOMES.

Among the activities of the Salvation Army not generally known, though of vital importance, are the Children's Homes.

Throughout the world, there are 81 of these accommodating about 4,000 children orphaned or dependent.

In the United States, there are five, one in Maryland one.

Poverty, desertion, sickness and death of parents all contribute to make this work the children necessary. Frequently it is found best to remove a child from its parents—then it is at once obligatory to provide a home.

Skilled dieticians plan and prepare the food for the little bodies, often wasted by inherited diseases or from long neglect and lack of nutritious food and sanitary care.

In these homes no baby is too small, too ill or too obscure of origin to be admitted, and no effort too great to bring back a child to normal condition. There are no barriers to any child who needs its care—neither race, color, creed nor condition is considered.

In New York City in one of these homes out of 120 babies under a year old, 5 were foundlings picked up on doorsteps, from the subway and from ash cans, wrapped in newspaper and entirely devoid of any mark of identification. They had been thrown out by heartless parents as refuse to die.

One of these, named by the city, John McDonald, now about three months old is a sturdy beautiful boy.

The non-institution idea prevails—and no two dresses or rompers are alike, and these homes furnish splendid examples of the Salvation Army's investment in citizenship—for it believes every baby worth its weight in gold, and by this means provides those thrown upon its bounty with a carefree love sheltered babyhood, and a good education which embraces vocational and spiritual training, as well as the regular public school education.

A model Home is at Lytton Springs, Sonoma county, California, to which place the courts of the State commit a great number of boys and girls, all of whom are cared for in the best way possible. The instruction and training comprehends all that is included in a public school education and added thereto are the most practical lessons in farming, dairying, fruit-raising, with courses in domestic science specially for the girls. Music, both vocal and instrumental, has a place in the curriculum, but the thing regarded as of supreme importance is the moral training of the young.

the existing rates while and after wage reductions are made.

They hold, in effect, that the fact that they are at their wits' ends to make both ends meet, while their labor is paid wages fixed during the period of high prices, and while in many instances it is getting more than similar labor in other lines, is in itself sufficient reason for cutting down wages. But they go further and argue that now and during the several years past the ratio of wages increase is out of porportion to the ratio of rate increase, and that, therefore, the figures argue for wages reductions, while rates stand still.

That is what they really are hoping to fix in the minds of the members of the Senate committee. They would like more. They would like to have the laws eased substantially along the lines advocated by Howard Elliott, of the Northern Pacific, who wanted the roads given permission to fix rates and wages, subject to review by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Railroad Labor Board, respectively, but without power in those bodies to suspend the actions of the roads pending the review. Mr. Elliott also would have the Hepburn and Adamson acts repealed and the Anti Trust act repealed so far as it would prevent the roads acting in concert in determining rates.

SPORTS

The Destroyers A. C., played the Aztec A. C. Sunday on the High School grounds and were defeated by the score of 3 to 1. The Washington lads got their two winning runs in the sixth inning, which was the last, on a high ball across first base which should have been a foul but umpire called it fair. First Basemen Snellings could have easily gotten the ball but let it go for a foul. Owens pitched good ball for the Destroyers, having only two bad innings, the first and last. He held the visitors to four hits.

Monday, Decoration Day, the Destroyers journeyed to Warrenton and were beaten by the team of that place by a 17 to 8 score. Sullivan pitching for the D's, seemed to have trouble in finding the plate as he walked five men and allowed four hits in the first inning for a total of five runs. The Destroyers came right in their half of the first and proceeded to pound the Warrenton pitcher out of the box amassing a total of six runs giving Sullivan a one run lead to start the second he began to pitch real ball, holding the countrymen in check until fourth when he again weakened, allowing 12 hits for as many runs before the third man was out. Stover, the Destroyers' dependable left hander, started the fifth inning and showed the farmers how to pitch as they only found one hit during the five innings he worked. The game was loosely played as there were many errors on both sides.

Sunday the Destroyers will play the Clover A. C. on the High School diamond at 1:30. Come out and look these boys over. Stover is expected to pitch, with Lash receiving. When working good, this is a battery hard to beat.

The Alexandria Torpedo Station baseball team was defeated Saturday by the Fort Washington baseball team at Fort Washington, Md., by the score of 7 to 6. The battery for A. T. S., was Sampson and Tullock Captain Harris, U. S. A., Athletic Officer at Fort Washington, stated that it was the cleanest game of ball that he had seen for years. Everyone was perfectly satisfied. After the game the local boys were invited to supper which had been especially prepared for them. Any team that goes to Fort Washington and plays a good clean game of ball will be treated like a Prince.

It seemed as though the soldier fans at the Fort liked the kind of ball we played. The Fort Washington baseball team will journey to Alexandria the coming Saturday, June 4th, and play us on South Alfred Street diamond.

All the fans are invited out to see this game. We always try to please the fans by playing good clean base ball. When a game of ball is good and clean, all fans are satisfied. If you come out to see our games we guarantee you will be satisfied in every respect.

The Triple A's journeyed to Leesburg yesterday, and received the shore end of a 6 to 3 score. The game was largely attended, considering the weather and the bad condition of the grounds. Anderson's home run was the leading feature of the game. Wacker for the A's pitched fine ball, and would have won easily on a fair diamond.

Leesburg's star twirler, is a wonderful pitcher for his age. Follow the A's always, and you will see good games. Remember the excursion June 13. Are you going?

PUSSY FINDS NEW WAY TO OUTWIT VOLSTEAD

Georgetown, Del., May 31.—In these days when a case of hooch is worth a king's ransom and the owner of a full sized jag wouldn't exchange it for all of Midas' riches, one of Georgetown's pussy cats has discovered the way to obtain the equivalent of a couple of swallows of the best red eye withopt cost of a cent.

Several days ago it was noticed the cat displayed a fondness for the neighborhood of a local motor repair shop and when a watch was set it was discovered Tom called at the shop regularly every evening. After smelling out the spot where the gasoline dripped from the tanks, he then proceeded to roll blissfully in the dust and stagger off with the finest jag that ever was. Maybe some of Georgetown's citizens will do likewise.

DRY OFFICIALS IN LIQUOR SCANDAL

Chicago, May 30.—A liquor scandal involving national politicians and prominent prohibition enforcement officials was revealed here yesterday.

The plot was unearthed during several months of secret investigation by federal intelligence officials working under Col. A. C. Earnshaw. Hundreds of carloads of whisky have come into Chicago as the result of the plot, the investigation showed.

District Attorney Clyne, who just returned here from Washington where he conferred with Attorney General Daugherty, said evidence will be presented to a special grand jury.

Two men high in politices, whose names are withheld, are said to be leaders in the whisky ring.

MANY INDUSTRIES TIED TO TOBACCO

Prohibition of Weed Would Mean Big Financial Loss to Allied Trades.

WHO USES THE MATCH?

The Smoker Mainly—Also Responsible for Spending Hundreds of Millions Annually for Licorice, Sugar, Coal, Cigar Boxes, Tin Foil, Etc.

By GARRET SMITH

"Got a match?"

How many times a day is that question asked in these United States? How many more times is the question unnecessary because most pockets are kept well supplied with the useful little article? Anyhow, inasmuch as it is estimated that there are 30,000,000 tobacco users in the country, we would guess that the answer to that question would run into the hundreds of millions.

For if it weren't for the smokers in these days of electric lights how many matches would be used? A pretty small proportion of the number of these "sticks of blazes" produced in the country every year. Abolish tobacco and the match business would be shot to pieces.

But the match business is only one of a dozen or more allied industries which derive large revenues directly or indirectly from the tobacco trade and would suffer heavily if national prohibition of tobacco were to go into effect as some of our reformers would have it. The annual sales of tobacco products, based on retail prices, is estimated at $1,937,000,000. Of the cost of producing and selling this quantity of cigars, cigarettes and other forms of the weed, some hundreds of million dollars are paid out for other things than the raw tobacco and labor of making it up.

$25,000,000 a Year for Boxes

For example, the tobacco trade consumes each year 45,000,000 pounds of licorice, 50,000,000 pounds of sugar, both used in flavoring tobacco, and 630,000 tons of coal. It is estimated that the value of wooden cigar boxes used is $25,000,000 a year, quite an item to the lumber business and to manufacturers of the boxes.

In making these boxes 550,000 pounds of nails are employed. Other large items used in making and preparing tobacco for sale are tin and lead foil, paper for bags and cigarette wrappers, cloth for tobacco bags, labels, coupons, etc., involving the printing trade extensively.

Then building contractors and manufacturers of machinery are largely interested. Investments in plants and machinery employed in manufacturing tobacco are estimated at $102,000,000. Replacement, up-keep and interest on the investment make no small sum annually.

And let realty men note there are approximately 325,000 tobacco farms in the country, with a total estimated valuation of $160,000,000. Of further interest to real estate men is the fact that there are 700,000 retail establishments selling tobacco, involving a total rental and up-keep impossible to estimate, besides the large amount of office space occupied by administrative branches of the general business.

The insurance men, too, have their share of the pickings. The tobacco business pays out annually $7,000,000 in premiums in the United States.

And there are the railroads who reap revenue from 2,210,000 tons of tobacco products every year.

As for the advertising business, here again it is impossible to form any estimate of the enormous annual outlay.

The prohibition of tobacco would also knock a good-sized hole in the receipts of the United States government. The internal revenue receipts from tobacco for the fiscal year 1920 amounted to $295,809,355.44. Customs duties provided an additional $25,000,000 in round figures, making the total revenue return to the government $320,000,000.

Influence on Popular Sentiment

It is this interlocking of the tobacco business with so many other interests and the vast amount of financial loss that would be involved in the abolition of tobacco that is one of the most serious aspects of the proposal to prohibit the sale of tobacco, a proposal, however, which has little support by public sentiment if the newspaper editors of the country are correct in their estimate of that sentiment.

In a poll of the editors made recently by the Tobacco Merchants' Association of the United States, through the Press Service Company of New York City, 93 per cent of the 7,847 editors who replied expressed the opinion that the people of their communities were opposed to any law against tobacco. As these editors represent some 80,000,000 readers the results form a pretty general test of national opinion.

In their remarks accompanying their replies many of the editors expressed it as their opinion that the opposition of their communities to the abolition of tobacco was based to some extent at least on the damage such a change would do to the business interests of the community. This was particularly true in the tobacco growing states and centers where there were large tobacco plants.

But when the extent of the business involved in the allied interests of the tobacco trade is considered, as above briefly outlined, it is clear that there is hardly a section of the country that would not be affected directly or indirectly by abolishing tobacco.

LIVE NEWS

ROSEMONT DEL RAY
BRADDOCK MT. IDA
ST. ELMO

On Monday, the twenty second of May, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pence, in Doswell, Hanover county, Va., was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The bolt struck the chimney in an upper room and exploded so that the entire second floor was instantly ablaze and could not be entered at all. The flames spread so quickly that a couple of articles of clothing were all that could be saved, and house, furnishings and clothing, every thing that was in the home burned up completely in a very short time. The loss is partly covered by insurance and as the outbuilding were far enough from the home to escape the fire, the family are able to use one of the barns as a temporary dwelling. Mr. and Mrs. Pence are the parents of Mrs. John C. Hildebrand of St. Elmo. Mrs. Hildebrand and her nephew, Thomas Pence, had spent the week end with her parents, and were on the cars returning to St. Elmo when the fire occurred, having left Doswell just before the storm.
